

U. S. Witnesses Face Charges in Oregon Court

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — George Minelli, an outspoken sheriff's deputy, today resumes testimony in U. S. District court here that might place him in contempt of a state Circuit Court.

Minelli, who earlier this week testified before the Senate Labor Rackets Committee in Washington, is a government witness in the federal wiretap case against big Jim Elkins.

Elkins, a Portland gambler, and his employee, Raymond Clark, are accused of illegally tapping and recording telephone conversations of Tom Maloney, a Seattle race track figure, and others.

Elkins is the star witness in a state investigation of vice and corruption here. Elkins said that Maloney, certain Teamster Union officials, and others conspired with Portland Dist. Atty. William Langley to expand and control vice operations in Portland.

Some 60 persons have been indicted by the state on more than 100 charges in the year-long investigation.

Minelli and 11 other county and state officers were ordered by State Circuit Judge Charles W. Redding today to testify at the federal trial about the raid on Clark's home in which a set of tape recordings was seized.

Judge Redding based his ruling on the fact that the raid had been declared illegal because it was based on an improper search warrant sworn to by Langley. Judge Redding earlier threatened contempt citations against anyone who defied his order.

But U. S. District Judge William East has declared that the FBI was legal and that testimony about them will be permitted in his court.

Juror Declares Judges Got Illegal Money

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A member of the Pulaski County Grand Jury has complained to that body that the Arkansas County Judges Association has received tax money illegally from counties.

James K. Wells of Little Rock made the allegation during a two-hour session of the jury yesterday. The grand jury decided to investigate and Foreman Dan T. Sprick said he would name a 5-man committee today or Monday to check into the charge.

Wells said counties had no right to pay tax money to the judges association and contended that the association used the proceeds to "lobby" during the recent legislative session.

He said he did not think that was right either. Wells, who works for a rent-a-car agency, gave no reason for his interest in the judges association.

Sprick and Wells said the allegations were supported by documents secured from 11 county clerks — including those in Pulaski, Ouachita, Jefferson, Clark, Garland, Montgomery, Grant, Hot Spring, Bradley Cross, and Cleveland counties.

The jury foreman said some of the documents were claims filed by the judges association for various amounts of money and others were warrants issued by the counties for payment of the money.

Sprick said the warrants were issued for the state purposes of advertising the counties and to obtain additional county revenues.

Wells said the money actually was spent by the association for "lobbying."

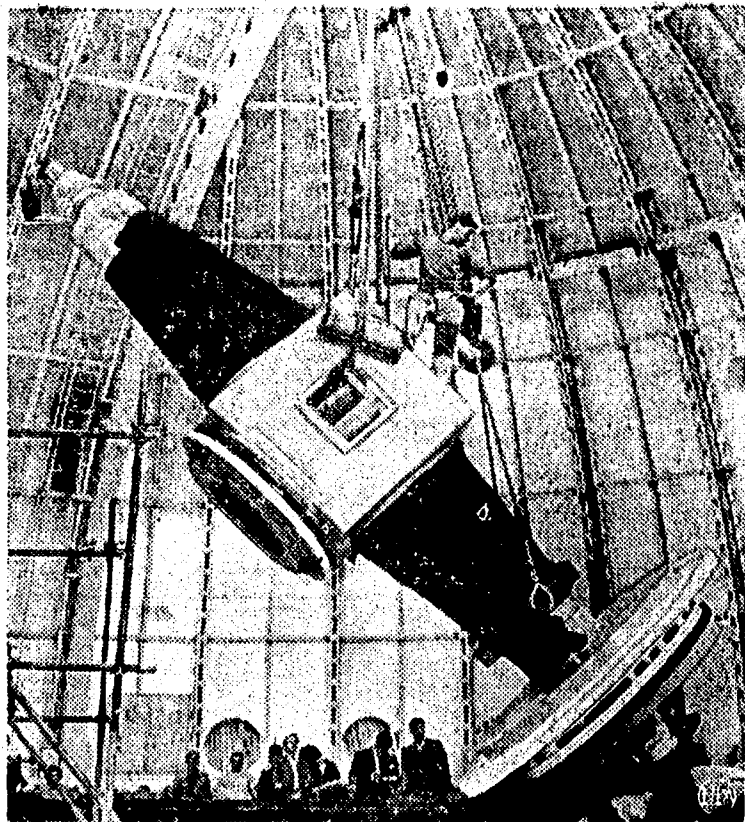

He contended that the tax money was paid to the association improperly because it is not a chartered organization or a government agency.

Wells said that since the records of only 11 counties were checked there was "no telling how much" money the association had received.

He said he was asking the grand jury to obtain an accounting of association funds to determine "just how the money was spent."

Residents Told to File State Income Taxes

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A "concerted effort" will be made to "catch" persons who fail to meet the May 15 deadline for filing state income tax returns, state Revenue Commissioner J. Orville Cheney said today.

This will include those who fail to file a return although they owe no tax, he said.

Roby Bearden, Income Tax Division director, said he expects about 67,000 returns to be filed this year, or about 10,000 more than last year.

Last year, the state collected approximately 14,300,000 from the income tax with about five million of the amount coming from individual incomes.

Income tax legislation passed by the 1957 General Assembly is expected to boost income tax revenue by about five million dollars.

The new law will apply to this year's incomes on which the tax will be paid in 1958.

Bearden said those who file late will be subject to a 10 per cent penalty while those who fail to file at all will be subject to a 25 per cent penalty.

Denies Wanting to Limit Oil Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Horace L. Flurry has denounced a "false" charge that he favored a "more limited" grand jury investigation of oil price boosts.

Flurry has quit his post as a lawyer with the Justice Department's anti-trust division alleging that his superiors impeded the grand jury probe which he was conducting.

Yesterday, Assistant Atty. Gen. Victor R. Hansen, head of the anti-trust division, accepted Flurry's resignation. Hansen said Flurry was removed from the case some time ago because he refused to cooperate with two superiors, W. Wallace Kirkpatrick, No. 3 man in the division, and Worth Rowley, chief of its trial section.

Flurry, who had been a trust-busting government lawyer for 10 years, said this charge of non-cooperation was "untrue."

He also challenged Hansen's statement that Flurry's superiors "believed that a very thorough, complete investigation should be made of the oil companies involved, whereas you believed a more limited investigation was desirable."

Market Edges Downward Slightly

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market edged downward on balance in fairly active trading early Friday afternoon.

Steels, motors and some oils moved briskly. Oils with interests in the Middle East lost ground on uncertainty over the Jordanian crisis.

Bethlehem and Chrysler were actively traded in the wake of their record earnings reports.

FORMER ATTORNEY DIES
BENTON (AP) — Fred W. McDonald, 78, a former North Little Rock city attorney, died at his home here yesterday.

He was a graduate of the University of Arkansas Law School, and had served also as city attorney at Clavis, N. M., for several years. He moved to Fayetteville, Ark., in 1916, where he operated a store and was postmaster until his retirement.

Surviving are his wife and one sister. Funeral services are to be held at 2 p. m. Sunday.

Contract Let for University Building

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The B. Sweetser Construction Co. of Fayetteville was awarded a contract today to build a student apartment at the University of Arkansas on a low bid of $618,424.

Henry Yocum of El Dorado, chairman of University Board of trustees, said that he was pleased with the bid, "which is very favorable in view of the fact that the federal Home and Finance agency had estimated that the cost might run as high as $907,000."

Nine bids ranged up to $745,000. The building, which will have 100 apartments, will be financed by federal funds and the money will be repaid through rentals.

Benson Calls for Rehash of Cotton Prices

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson today called for re-examination of the basic law governing cotton price controls.

Benson told the 33rd annual convention of the American Cotton Shippers Association that recent favorable developments — increased exports and reduced carryovers — should not be allowed to lull the nation into complacency.

"We must not wait until, having disposed of surplus number one, we have built up surplus number two. We should not wait with making changes until they are forced upon us."

The next few years, "while we have the next bank and the surplus disposal programs," he said, should be used to change to a program more in the interest of cotton farmers.

The agriculture secretary arrived here yesterday after making an informal inspection of far conditions in eight southern states.

Benson asked of the cotton program, because of the price support requirement in the basic law, were not "committed to continuous production controls, loss of markets for cotton, and continuous surplus disposal operations."

If this is true, he said, "would it not be well to re-examine the price support objective?"

American farms, Benson said, are in the midst of great scientific and technological changes.

"Production per worker has doubled in the last 15 years. Cotton production per acre has increased 65 per cent. This creates a new dimension in farm policy and makes it virtually impossible to curtail agricultural output with the type of controls acceptable in our society."

The agricultural revolution, he said, "is he blind spot in present farm price-support policy."

Benson said when surpluses are reduced "cotton farmers will feel that acreage allotments should be increased but under present law increased allotments for cotton rarely are made."

If this legislation is retained, he said, "it is difficult to foresee the time when total acreage allotments for cotton of 17,000,000 acres for 1957 and 1958, he said, and the 1959 acreage allotment could be in the neighborhood of 14 million acres."

Twenty-five years ago, before the acreage control program, Benson said cotton grew on more than 40 million acres of United States farm land. This year's acreage is likely to be one-third of that figure.

"Before American cotton growers began to hold the price umbrella for foreign cotton producers," he said, "cotton production abroad totaled 11 million bales. This past year foreign cotton production was twice as great, 25 million bales."

In a similar period, Benson said, synthetic fibers production has increased to an equivalent of more than 14 million bales each year.

Meanwhile, although the world has 500 million more people, worldwide consumption per person of all fibers has increased only from 8.2 pounds to 9.6.

Benson said that for years it was claimed the cotton program cost the government nothing, since supplies were held in line with markets. But, he said, the Commodity Credit Corp. now sells cotton for export at six to seven cents below the domestic price.

The corporation had a net realized loss of 535 million dollars on the 9,297,339 bales sold in the past 15 months, or close to $60 a bale, he said.

Search Renewed for Mother of Five

HORATIO (AP) — Officers and volunteers today planned to renew a search for a 33-year-old mother of five children, who disappeared from her home here early yesterday.

Sheriff Cecil Dillahunty said David Castee reported that his wife, Inez, vanished between 2 and 5 a. m. Tuesday.

The sheriff said the hunt for Mrs. Castee was suspended last night but that it would be resumed this morning. About 200 persons combed the area around this west Arkansas town yesterday.

Dillahunty quoted the husband as saying Mrs. Castee had been traveling over the death of her brother, Wayne Hearn, in an automobile accident near Texarkana about three months ago.

Ages of the Castee's children range from 8 years to 7 months.

Tornadoes, Rain Force Texas Evacuations

DALLAS (AP) — Flood waters surged out of dozens of rivers, and creeks in much of Texas today, flooding lowland and forcing hundreds of persons to evacuate.

Torrential rains up to eight inches lashed a wide area of the state yesterday and a barrage of at least six tornadoes struck in central and east Texas, injuring five persons and causing property damage estimated at more than a million dollars.

The cloudbursts continued today in south and central Texas. Many areas braced for more flooding as virtually every river and creek in north, central and south Texas were expected to reach new crests today and tomorrow.

At Kennedy in the once hard-hit drought area of Karnes County, high winds accompanied a down-pour that dumped 1.50 inches of rain within 20 minutes.

Police ordered the evacuation of 500 families in the southern part of the county in anticipation of a flood on the nearby Trinity River today. The river was expected to hit a crest of 44 feet, six feet above major flood stage.

Trees between 75 and 100 feet high in the once-dry river bottom were half-submerged in the swirling, muddy water as the Trinity continued to rise half a foot per hour.

The total evacuation in south Texas was expected to reach 1,500 to 2,000 families. A 5.10 inch rain drenched the city yesterday.

The Department of Public Safety said the little community of Gomanche, 120 miles southwest of Fort Worth, was virtually isolated by flood waters from streams in the area. All roads were reported closed, power was out and telephones were shut off.

At Killean in central Texas, heavy rains last night forced 100 families from their homes. High winds at nearby Fort Hood, Tex., blew the roof off the officers' club, the motor pool building and the stands at the baseball stadium.

Damage from the tornadoes yesterday was heaviest at Tyler where a twister roared across the eastern edge of town. It hit two elementary schools, the junior high school and more than 400 homes. Some 300 children escaped injury.

An eight inch rain caused a flash flood at Hamilton, 70 miles west of Waco. It washed away a building and several cars on a parking lot. Water swirled 4½ feet deep around the courthouse. High winds during the storm blew down the front wall of a theater, but no one was hurt.

Aluminum Food Containers Planned

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Victor Metal Products Corp. has announced plans for manufacturing what it calls the first aluminum food and drink containers in the nation at Newport.

Victor Muscat of New York, president of the firm, said yesterday that the present factory here is being expanded. About 400 persons are employed by the firm's Newport plant at present.

R. D. Tiberis, vice president of the firm and director of the factory here, said it was not known immediately how many extra jobs would be created by the expansion.

He said the proposed containers will be used for beer and soft drinks.

One Killed in Nebraska Storm

MILFORD, Neb. (AP) — One person was killed and 18 others hurt as a tornado swooped down on this little southeast Nebraska town of less than 1,000 last night.

The body of Paul Cast, 76, was found in the wreckage of his farm home 10 miles southwest of here early today. Sheriff Ray Welch said Cast lived alone.

Between 75 and 100 homes and business establishments were demolished or damaged as tornadoes dipped down in rural areas.

Memphis Safety Record Broken

MEMPHIS (AP) — This city's longest period without a traffic fatality in 16 years ended today when a moving van went out of control and hit a man waiting at a bus stop.

The victim was identified as John Brown.

Memphis had gone 65 days without a fatal accident when the mishap occurred. It came less than 24 hours after police announced a revival of the "100 deathless days" campaign of 1951 when the city went 63 days without a traffic death.

The modern day record was set in 1941-42 days.

News From State Capitol

State Capital Bureau

LITTLE ROCK, April 25 (Special) — The state Board of Finance's investments in bonds issued by local industrial development corporations will shortly move over the $1,000,000 mark.

The board had acquired issues aggregating only $510,000 under the two-year-old act but it is committed to take up two more issues in the near future which together total $600,000, according to Frank A. Storey Jr., the board's executive secretary.

These are $200,000 of a Searcy Industrial Development Corporation issue to finance the Chry Corporation installation and $400,000 in bonds issued by the Arkadelphia corporation for the Teclum project.

The state has already invested in $400,000 Helena-West Helena Industrial Development Commission bonds to finance installation of a Mohawk Rubber Company plant, $300,000 issued in West Memphis for the United Wood Company plant, $44,000 of a Van Buren Industrial Development Corporation issue to construct a factory for the Kay Chair Company and $45,000 (with another $30,000 scheduled for early purchase) issued by the Montgomery County Industrial Development Corporation for a factory for Indianapolis Glove Company, Inc.

These are all first lien obligations secured by mortgages on the property involved, and says Mr. Storey, protected by insurance which guarantees rental payments sufficient to amortize the bond issues. They were purchased under the 1955 act which permitted investment of up to $1,000,000 of State Treasury balances in the local corporation bonds with the approval of the Finance Board, which is composed of the governor, state auditor, state treasurer, bank commissioner and state comptroller.

The 1955 act represented a radical departure from the 1939 legislation which permitted investment of State Treasury balances only in U. S. government bonds and direct general obligation bonds of the state of Arkansas.

It was conservative legislation, however, compared to 1957 enactments which not only threw wide the gate into the state Treasury but also prepared the way for state agencies, including those holding funds in trust for retirement purposes, to invest in the name of "industrial development."

The State Chamber of Commerce has compiled a comprehensive list of 1957 legislation in the industrial development field. It indicates how deeply the state and its political subdivisions have become embroiled in the industrial development "program."

Act 545 authorizes payments up to $50,000 in the 1957-58 biennium to security dealers for selling first lien serial coupon bonds of local industrial development corporations.

Act 526 appropriates $600,000 from the industrial development revolving fund for investment in second lien bonds of local industrial development corporations.

Act 47 authorizes any city or town or board, including firemen's and policemen's fund boards, to invest in the bonds and increases the Finance Board's investment authority for such bond purchases from Treasury balances from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000.

Act 567 authorizes creation of the Arkansas Development Finance Corporation and empowers the State Board of Finance to purchase the first $5,000,000 of bonds issued by the corporation plus 50 per cent, on a matching basis with other purchasers, of any additional bonds issued.

In addition the legislature approved for submission at the next general election a constitutional amendment to permit cities and counties to issue bonds for development projects to be secured by a special tax of up to five mills on assessed property.

Whether the state's primary purpose is to promote industrial development or whether it is mainly concerned with making investments which will return the most for its money depends on the viewpoint.

Finance Board Executive Secretary Storey says his interest is purely in seeing the state's money invested where it will draw the most interest. The investments to date in five per cent first mortgage bonds he calls "blue chip," which could "easily be sold to private investors. The interest the state receives is directed by law 75 per cent to General Revenue and 25 per cent to the Securities Reserve Fund. However, the law authorizing purchase of $5,000,000 or more of Development Finance Corporation bonds directs all the interest be credited to the Securities Reserve Fund.

Mr. Storey indicated that while he did not actively oppose upping the Finance Board's authority to purchase local corporation bonds to $2,000,000 he did not initiate the proposition. Most of the 1957 legislation including the Finance Corporation law, was prepared by William Nash, Little Rock attorney.

Brown Charged With Giving Out Illegal Circulars

Formal charges have been filed against J. L. Brown, local resident, in connection with the distribution of unsigned literature the night before a citywide election last Wednesday. It was announced today by C. V. Nunn Jr., deputy prosecuting attorney.

He was arrested yesterday and released on a $1,000 bond. Brown was questioned election eve by the deputy prosecutor after pamphlets were distributed door-to-door urging Hope voters to cast their ballots against the city manager plan. The measure carried by a 3 to 1 majority.

The warrant charged Brown with unlawful printing and distribution of political circulars in Hempstead. The law says all printed matter in a political campaign must be signed.

Roads Bureau Okays Fourth L. R. Bridge

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The U. S. Bureau of Public Roads today approved preliminary plans for locating a fourth bridge here and the proposed route of a Little Rock by-pass, state Highway Director Herbert Eldridge announced.

Eldridge said approval was contained in a letter from P. E. Schenke, acting engineer here of the Bureau of Public Roads.

The highway director noted, however, that actual construction of the bridge and by-pass, as a part of the new interstate system, is some years away.

According to the Highway Department's preliminary plans, the by-pass route would run from the point near Mainblave on U. S. Highway 70 north across the proposed bridge and connect with a new highway planned across Arkansas from Oklahoma to Tennessee.

Eldridge said the by-pass would avoid built-up areas but that "by the time we get around to getting serious about the route, some of the open areas may have become built-up so we will have to change the location again."

Schenke's letters complimented the Highway Department for being the first in the bureau's Reo in 6, comprised of

DOROTHY DIX

Her Steady's School Hero and It's Turned His Head

Dear Dorothy Dix: Stevie and I were going steady. We had our first quarrel last week. He played the lead in our class play, and was such a success that the girls have been swarming around him ever since. He plays less and less attention to me. How can I recapture his interest?

Dear Selma: Play along with the crowd, dear. Don't show your jealousy; be as appreciative of his talents as the other girls. His sudden popularity will die as a new hero takes the spotlight. Then a slightly chastened Stevie will be quite content with his old steady.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I've always been a sociable, fun-loving person, with plenty of friends both male and female. My husband understands my disposition. Recently we met a new couple. After seeing them at a few parties, the man got me aside and asked me not to speak to him in front of his wife, as she is the jealous type.

Personally, I think she has a right to be. I don't like his attitude, in fact, I'm afraid of him. Should I tell his wife she has nothing to fear from me or let the matter drop and ignore him as much as possible?

Dear Dianthe: What you intend as good fellowship might easily be misinterpreted as flirting by those not in the know. Temper your manner, especially with new people, until you know the wife is not the jealous type.

In the case of your new friends, don't approach the wife directly, but turn a group conversation to the question of your manner. If everyone agrees that your disposition is outgoing rather than predatory, she should be reassured.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Our class prom is coming up soon. Several weeks ago I asked a boy to go. He said he'd be delighted, but he might not be able to get off work. Naturally I wanted everything settled, so when I didn't hear from him I called again. His mother took the message and said she'd have him call back. He never has. I don't want to make a pest of myself but would like to be sure of an escort. Can I call any more?

Dear Dierdre: Since you've had no success phoning the boy, try writing him a note. Explain that you'd like to have an answer by a specific date — to give you time to ask another boy if he can't make it.
